

Removing Extra Line Spacing in Word 2007

To get rid of the extra spacing that Word wants to put after each paragraph, you need to be on the Home command tab as shown below.

Click on the launcher (small arrow) on the bottom of the Paragraph command set on the Home tab.

The Paragraph dialog box (shown below) will open and you can set the default to be no space between paragraphs.

Set the Before and After Spacing to 0 (zero). Set the Line Spacing to 0 (zero).

Check this box.

Click the Default button. Yes.

(Susie Corbin-Muir, North Central Junior High)